(c) what steps have been taken by Government to encourage the farmers and rural landless in this direction;

(d) whether it is a fact that 'Tree Patta' i.e. allotment of land for tree plantation is being encouraged by some State Governments to encourage agro-forestry; and

(e) if so, what are the details in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF ENVIRONMENT AND FORESTS (SHRI Z. R. ANSARI): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The National Wastelands Development Board has initiated a scheme of decentralised nurseries and a component of seedling distribution for farm forestry under scheme of Rural Fuelwood Plantation and Afforestation of eco-sensitive non-Himalayan areas. A new scheme, namely, 'Establishment of Silvi-pastural Farms' to augment quality fodder/grass production has also been started.

(c) Decentralised nurseries, distribution of seedlings, tree growers cooperatives and tree pattas are some of the steps taken by the Government to encourage the farmers and rural landless in this direction.

(d) and (e) Degraded revenue/community lands, and strips along road sides and canal sides are considered for the issue of tree pattas to the rural poor. The States of Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Rajasthan, Gujarat, Andhra Pradesh and Orissa have introduced the tree patta scheme, in one form or the either.

Change of name of Bombay city

1635. SHRI PRAMOD MAHAJAN: Will the Minister of HOME AFFAIRS be pleased to refer to the answer to Unstarred Question 158 given in the Rajya Sabha on the 24th February, 1987 and state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the demand for change of name of the city of Bombay to Mumbai is neither on the grounds of local patriotism nor for linguistic reasons or for merely satisfying the local sentiments but to change the distorted version of the original name of Mumbai to Bombay given by he Britshers, just like Badoda to Vadodara; and

(b) if so, whether Government propose to accept the demand for changing the name of the city, if so, when?

THE MINISTER OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI BUTA SINGH): (a) and (b) The matter had been examined and all the relevant factors were taken into consideration. There is however, no change in the stand already taken by the Government.
